Staff Horticulturist Helps the Village Grow

Chad Johnson started out working golf maintenance at Tanasi Golf Course right after he got his Associates Degree in Science from Hiwassee College. After a short stint as the Sports Turf Manager at Athens Regional Park, he returned to Tanasi. Earlier this year, Jim West and Jeff Gagley agreed to move Chad over to Public Works as the Horticulturist, and things have been growing ever since.

Since February of this year, Johnson has been tending to flower beds at Tellico Village's amenities and overseeing the mowing crew taking care of common areas around the community. In all, Johnson and his team are responsible for 14 different areas encompassing more than 45 acres of grass, trees and plants.

Scheduling the crews and ensuring the quality of their work is part of the daily activities Johnson oversees. They also perform all the applications of pre-emergents, herbicides, pesticides and fertilizer. They do a bit of irrigation system maintenance as well.

It's a big but important job in Johnson's view. "We are always striving for perfection. It can never be perfect, but we need to push for perfection," said Johnson. "We try to make it better every day."

Clearly the spring is the busiest time of the year. Cleanup from winter and the beginning of the growing season keeps Johnson and his team hopping.

"I'm a turf man; I love growing grass," says this self-professed outdoorsman. On top of growing grass, he enjoys fishing and hunting. He was born and raised on a beef cattle farm and says he loves to farm. Johnson is married and has two children.

When asked why he enjoys his job, Johnson says, "I love the challenge. Watching the flowerbeds with the perennials and shrubs...I love it."

Johnson and his team not only watch over the growing of plants and grasses, their work helps visitors see for themselves why it is better at Tellico Village.

Hike Gregory Bald June 14

The Tellico Village Hiking Club will depart 8 a.m. Friday, June 14, from Chota Center to hike:

- Gregory Bald
- Distance: 9 miles round trip
- Elevation Gain: 2300 feet
- Rating: Strenuous
- Driving Time: Approx. 1.5 hours
- Leader: John Winn, 865-675-6272 or john.winn@gmail.com

This out and back hike turns around at one of the prettiest destinations in the park, Gregory Bald. Gregory Bald is famous for its flame azaleas, large shrubs with beautiful orange-red clusters of flowers. We hope the hike coincides with maximum bloom, when the Bald is alive with flame.

The trail to the Bald begins in the back of Cades Cove (we must drive the loop). It climbs steadily and unrelievedly uphill, with the last quarter mile being as steep as any trail in the park. The Bald is on the main spine of the Smokies, and you can feel the change in climate, so even on a warm day, bring a light jacket. You will need it after the exertion of the climb. As with any spectacular reward, this one takes effort. On the way down you can congratulate yourself for seeing a special part of the park that only a hardy few can experience.

And the Beat Goes on for East Tennessee Jazz Society

By Steve Geoffrey, Community contributor

Back in 1994, Bob Heintz moved from Connecticut to Maryville, Tennessee. Bob had been active in marketing in New York and was an avid music fan and supporter. He hosted jazz concerts and got to know many of the NY jazz musicians and their families. It was a natural that upon arriving in Tennessee, he and his wife Nancy along with Geoff Matthews, created the East Tennessee Jazz Society (ETJS) and sponsored an opportunity for local musicians to play at various local venues for more than 10 years. The ETJS loved to showcase new talent and gave many of the current Knoxville musicians their first public appearance. The concerts began at the now defunct Ivories and closed at the Royal Oaks Golf Club in Maryville. Having many music contacts, Bob also was instrumental in having Ed Polcer and his band from New York City and Ken Peplowski stop for concerts in Knoxville on their cross country tours. Ed Polcer was the manager of Eddie Condon's, a prominent 42nd Street New York Jazz Club that is now closed. The walls in Bob's 'hobby room' in his Maryville home were loaded with over a hundred photos of prominent musicians from Count Basie to Oscar Peterson.

In 1998, Steve & Mary Ann Geoffrey invaded the south from Michigan. Having played with his brothers and a Big Band for 20 years, he initially went into music withdrawal. Six months later they discovered the East Tennessee Jazz Society and the University of Tennessee Music Department which were having events. Steve would pass along ETJS notices from Bob to a few folks in Tellico Village who enjoyed music and became ETJS members.

When Bob Heintz passed on to his maker more than two years ago, many Villagers turned to Steve asking what was going to happen to the ETJS.

Having a deep interest in music, the Tellico Jazz & Music lovers (TJML) organization was formed to carry on Bob's initiative and the ETJS. The new group now holds events at the Tellico Village Yacht Club.

Local performers have included the UT jazz faculty, namely Keith Brown, Mark Boling and Rusty Holloway; Kelli Jolle and Will Boyd with Emily Mathis and Taylor Coker, Ben Dockery with Martin Whittaker, Bill Slack and Dave Peoples, Dr. Bill Swann, Emily Amadian and Will Yager, Katy Free with Wendell Werner, all local musicians and Mark Meyer, the ragtime king from Sevierville. So the beat goes on for the ETJS now known as the TJML. We are looking forward to more concerts in 2013. Inquiries can be directed to Steve Geoffrey at smageo@charter.net.
