Some Other Stuff You Need to Know...

Friends of the Library's Yacht Club Discount Oct. 28

Although the Yacht Club tried to fit everyone in, they were unable to handle the overwhelming response to this Friends exclusive promotion offered by the Yacht Club for Friends Week 2014 and some folks were unable to get a reservation. Andy Fox and the Yacht Club have graciously offered another night on Tuesday, Oct. 28, for Friends who already have the 25% coupon. If you would like to take advantage of the Yacht Club's generous offer, please call the Yacht Club and make a reservation, be sure to bring your 25% coupon with you. The Public Library at Tellico Village would like to thank Andy Fox and the Yacht Club staff for this great offer! Again, we realize that some folks were not able to get a reservation; the Library had no idea that we would get such an overwhelming response and we apologize for this lack of foresight, the Yacht Club did their best and the Friends thank them.

The Library and the Yacht Club would like to reiterate that The Friends Week 25% coupon for the Yacht Club is only good for one time, please do not try to reuse it. The Yacht Club will be verifying that the coupons have not been previously used. This offer is only for folks who had a coupon but were not able to make the Tuesday 10/21 diner. Once again there will be tables of 8 or 10; this is a great way to meet new Friends! Reservations are required as there is limited times and seating. This was an extremely generous offer on the Yacht Club's part and the Friends do not want to take advantage of the Yacht Club's good will.

United Way Campaign Underway

Our annual Tellico Village campaign benefiting United Way of Loudon County is underway. Why should you consider contributing?

First, a single gift helps support 33 local charities serving just Loudon County residents, including Villagers, unlike single cause solicitations, many serving far distant places. Second, since this is a volunteer run organization, only 14% of your gift is spent for administrative (overhead) costs. Third, your gift goes to United Way's focus areas: education, health and basic needs (e.g. fire and rescue, utility and medical expenses, senior home assistance, etc.). Finally, if you would like any part a gift to go to particular UW agencies, that is accommodated.

Since Pioneer resident Arthur Spurrier started this campaign in 1992, Villagers have generously contributed $1,275,003 to the Loudon County campaign, while since 2003 Kahite residents have given $190,680 to the Monroe County campaign. Your help this year will put Tellico Village collectively over the $1.5M threshold...an outstanding record and it is estimated that 1 in every 5 residents in our two counties benefits in some way from this generosity. Won't you please consider helping?

For credit card payments and/or payments over time, please call Andy Ewing at 865-408-0894 for a pledge card. For Loudon County Village residents, checks are written to "United Way of Loudon County" and mailed to Robert Mugge, Treasurer, 118 Oostanali Way, Loudon, TN 37774. For Kahite residents, checks are written to "United Way of Monroe County" and mailed to Nancy Barrett, 1145 Kahite Trail, Vonore, TN 37885.

Loudoun Region, Knoxville Symphony, Lenoir City Fire Department, and the Tellico Community Players were among the recipients of last year's money raised from the Home Tour 2013.

This year we are back in Tellico Village, the following people have graciously agreed to open their homes for this year's Home Tour. The homes will be decorated for the holidays, following are descriptions of each home and their holiday theme.

HOME OF KAREN AND JOHN ALBERS - 122 Chota Landing Drive (Thanksgiving)

- The Albers' townhouse is situated in a quiet, no wake cove near the Yacht Club. It offers a charming view of boats as they enter and leave the cove, and includes a private dock for social and boating activities. The traditional style of the home fuses antiques and family heirlooms with casual leather furniture in the living area. The floor plan is also open to the dining room and open foyer. A built-in wet bar serves the main floor. Tray ceilings are included throughout the main floor, including the master bedroom. A custom stone fireplace is complemented by a beautiful matching stone arch that leads to the breakfast area. Their tiled kitchen includes quartz topped cabinets with two different complementary finishes. The master bedroom suite features a redecorated and reconfigured bathroom with glassed in shower, slate-look flooring and dual handmade vessel sinks set on a granite counter. The lower level includes a family room, two bedrooms with walk-in closets and another finished room that can be used for overflow sleeping. It also serves as a computer/office area. A French door leads out to a screened porch that also has wonderful views of the lake. In the family room an attractive copper topped table and tables with metal inserts add appealing visual interest. Worthy of note in a guest suite is a hand cranked 1893 Regina music box and the chest that holds all of the original metal disk recordings. These antiques have been handed down in Karen's family for generations. This Cooper built townhome has 3,186 square feet of living area, not including the finished office area in the lower level. The home has been decorated by its owners to match their lifestyle and decorating preferences.

HOME OF LEE AND BILL SHERRY - 216 Coyote Drive (Thanksgiving theme)

- The Sherry's 5.5 acre property is the perfect setting for their lodge in the woods. As you approach this home you'll notice whimsical yard art. Since both Lee and Bill were pilots, an original sculpture was made for them that incorporates two airplanes. In the center of the drive is an unusual telescope sculpture that features two kaleidoscopes. You'll notice a large front porch made for sitting under the cooling ceiling fans and overlooking the long, wooded entry drive. Family heirlooms and antiques are used throughout their home and brass rubbings made in England adorn many of the walls. The Sherry's make use of music, candles and scent for their desired ambiance in their open floor planned living areas. The family room's cathedral ceiling has a stone fireplace with a raised hearth. The kitchen and dining rooms open onto a gazebo shaped screened porch. From here you can just see, off to the left and into the woods, benches on a wooden deck with a fire pit in a park-like setting. The master suite with its relaxing chaise includes a spa bathroom featuring a cathedral ceiling. The lower level houses a game room with another stone fronted fireplace and houses a navy blue felted pool table. Two well-appointed guest rooms, each with its own theme make up the rest of the floor. One is the predominantly rust colored, Bahamas suite sporting a tropical decor. The other guest suite is the Victorian room featuring an antique baby carriage. Family history is displayed on one wall in this room. Bill's office sports a large sailfish on the wall caught in Costa Rica. The lower level leads out to a patio, complete with Tiki Bar.

The Sherry's 5,000+ square foot home was completely self-decorated.

HOME OF LINDA CECIL - 222 Konawa Lane (Thanksgiving theme)

- Linda Cecil and her late husband Roger designed all of the addition when they renovated this stone-fronted home. They added 2700 feet to the original 1640 square feet. The original home is the front of the house, including the large open foyer. The addition is the back of the home which includes the new, open concept kitchen, dining and party/game rooms. The game room incorporates a built-in bar area and houses a red-felted pool table. A stone fireplace wall climbs up to the cathedral ceiling. These rooms lead outside to open, entertaining decks. The new tiled kitchen includes a convenient pot filler over the stovetop. The granite topped cabinets are finished in two different finishes and there is a separate pantry behind an etched glass door. There are hand-scraped wood floors in the large, open dining area suitable for a crowd that features an oversized, distressed wood sideboard and hutch. Check out the new steam shower in the renovated master bath as you pass through the bathroom into the master suite, which is an interesting way to enter the bedroom. The master suite also includes Linda's office area. The lower level is part of the original home and is comprised of a guest bedroom and bathroom suite. Another level was added over the new three-car garage that has a sitting area, two queen sized beds and an en suite bath all decorated in floral motifs.

HOME OF LUCILE AND ROBERT DUVALL, 308 Coweta Court (Christmas theme)

- A traditional, European styled, stone fronted facade leads us into a home of treasured family and collected antiques. The stained glass window that was placed into the entry was found more than 40 years ago and finally found a home here. Collectible glassware, steins, David Winter cottages and lighthouses dot the shelves of several of the rooms. Robert's well-appointed study graces the front of the home where there is a distinctive curve of windows. The graceful entry leads into an open floor plan that includes the dining room and living room that leads into the kitchen, keeping room and sun room, all connected by tile flooring. The gourmet kitchen houses a Wolf stove housed in cherry cupboards and counters with two different granites on top. There are custom built-ins throughout the home. The living room windows with their distinctive window treatments that reach way up to the cathedral ceiling, look out on to a fabulous view of the lake and mountains. The master bedroom, with its custom made bed, is a beautifully appointed suite. The shower floor is made from rounded stones that massage the feet as you shower! The lower level houses a family room with a stone fireplace wall and Lucile's hobby room with its distinctive stained cement floor. This retreat has its own comfy window seat that hides storage. A choice of guest bedrooms and baths give visitors a choice, ranging from refined to rustic, cottage style. The Duvall home features 6,000 square feet. While Jimmy Stiles drew up the plans, builder Dean Connatser, with the help of Interior Designer, Dwane Dishner, modified details as they went along. Dwane also helped Lucile with the interior and window treatments. Frank Forkner did the original landscaping.

HOME OF MARILYN AND FRED KANWISCHER - 129 Kawga Way (Christmas theme)

- A traditional brick home with dormer windows is your first impression of the Kanwischer abode. On entering, the formal dining room is to the right and Fred's study to the left. These rooms hold several of the antique furnishings they have collected and they house Marilyn's music box, Hummel and snow globe collections, and a tall clock made by Fred's father. Hardwood floors and the living room's white wood framed fireplace also says traditional. High clearstory windows show off Fred's collection of sea birds and an old secretary holds Marilyn's Russian Matruska dolls. Their kitchen of cherry stained cabinets, frosted pantry door and granite has a Tuscan air. The breakfast room is in a bay shaped area. The family room has doors leading out to one of the two decks. The master suite has another bay window used as a sitting area facing the wooded rear yard, the spa bath is lightened by a skylight overhead, the bedroom lighted by cove lighting around the high ceiling. Two guest bedrooms, one obviously for grandchildren, share a bath on this level also. The upper loft area serves Marilyn as office in which she uses her father's desk and a music practice room for her guitar and dulcimer. The lower level is a large expanse that opens up to a family room with a stone faced fireplace, built-in bar area and wine fridge, beyond which is a game table with hidden game storage in the bay window area. Another game area for the air hockey table where the surrounding walls are covered with memorabilia. The corners of this room have an old juke box and a working slot machine. A media room with chairs from the Chicago Renaissance Theater, a popcorn station and a storage wall for all of their movies is hidden down here as well as Marilyn's sewing and craft room that also houses her mother's collection of dolls that have music boxes in them. Be sure to check out Fred's wine room that he built himself using wine barrels and faux finishing. Another guest room and bath, which houses a collection of blue and white china rounds out this lower level. The three levels of this home comprises over 5,400 square feet, whose interior was completely done by Marilyn and Fred.
