Truth Be Told Answers Question on Volunteer Compensation

Question: Are any volunteers for the POA rewarded by having their assessments paid by the POA?

Answer: No. None of our volunteers on POA committees nor on the Board of Directors are compensated in any form or fashion. They are true volunteers who are giving back to their community in the form of their time and talents.

The Public Relations Department unveiled the "Truth Be Told" program a few years ago. Villagers with a question or even a hard-to-believe rumor may pick up the phone and ask away at 865-458-7088. A voice mailbox will record the information and any contact information the property owner wants to leave. Property owners may also elect to leave the question or rumor on the voice mail anonymously. If contact information is available, the PR Department or the department with responsibility for the issue will get back to the property owner as expeditiously as possible.

There is also an email version of this process available by emailing the question or rumor to TruthBeTold@tvpoa.org. The staff will make sure an answer or resolution is emailed back to anyone wanting an answer.

Periodically, the PR Department will publicize several of the questions, rumors and answers in an effort to make sure all property owners benefit from the question asked. Property owner personal information will not be publicized unless specifically approved by the identified property owner.
