Library Suffers Minor Smoke Damage

Friends of the Tellico Village Library Board President, Sharon Addison, reported a small construction setback that occurred at the new library building overnight, May 10.

When opening up the workplace this morning, smoke was found in the building and an investigation found that smoldering combustion had occurred in a rubbish container overnight.

Since the building was closed and locked, the combustion was very limited. The only damage that occurred to the building was several cracked windows near the immediate area and smoke damage to the interior of the building.

The contractor and insurance adjusters are on-site and working on a plan to clean up the smoke damage and replace the damaged windows. There will still be work continuing on the exterior of the building and the grounds while the interior is cleaned up, and interior work is expected to resume soon.

Fortunately, construction is ahead of schedule, and this event should not impact the scheduled completion date of Oct. 12.

Womacks Donate TWC Scholarship for Vets

By BRITTANY SHOPE

Tennessee Wesleyan College

Maj. Gen. Fred Womack and his wife Teresa value an education more than anything. While the two are passionate about flying planes, traveling and spending time with family, their principal passion is giving back. For the next five years they are “returning the favor” for Tennessee Wesleyan College students who are veterans or spouses or dependents of veterans.

“Fred has always wanted to give back,” said Teresa. “That’s his big motto, giving back. I know he feels like he was mentored by some people in his career and so this scholarship is a good way to return that favor.”

The Womacks recently made a major gift to the college and have pledged to donate funds every year for five years to TWC students with military backgrounds.

“I’m a veteran,” said Fred, a former chair of TWC’s board of trustees and current member of the board of directors of the East Tennessee Foundation. “I feel like there are a lot of veterans out there that have served their country, and this is just another pat on the back for them.”

Graduating from TWC in 1963 with a business degree, Fred completed his U.S. Air Force undergraduate pilot training in 1966 and continued on to graduate from the Air War College in 1984, later becoming the Commander of the Tennessee Air National Guard.

“My goal in life was to be an Air Force pilot,” said Fred, now a member of the Tennessee Aviation Hall of Fame. “The only way I could be an Air Force pilot was to get a college degree. I enrolled in Tennessee Wesleyan College with the desire in my mind to go to Air Force pilot training. After I got into college life, that priority was still there but it slipped a little bit because I realized I was really getting a good education. There’s definitely a difference between training and education. There’s a big difference.”

Valuing the personalized education a small liberal arts college can provide, Fred and Teresa hope that their scholarship donation will be one component in the college’s continuing growth.

“As long as we have the faculty and staff that we have, this college will continue to grow and prosper,” said Fred, who finished out his TWC board of trustees term by serving as acting president at the college in the spring of 2010. “This country needs small liberal arts colleges like Tennessee Wesleyan. Students need that type of environment to learn. I don’t think I could have succeeded at a bigger university. I needed the special help and attention that a small college offers.”

Tennessee Wesleyan College, founded in Athens, Tenn., in 1857, is a four-year liberal arts institution affiliated with the Holston Conference of the United Methodist Church. The college’s dedicated faculty and staff believe in providing the resources and support students

Kiwanis Kares—A True Volunteer Program

Serving the Elderly as well as the Young

Kiwanis has a mission to “Serve the Children of the World”. Many of us will, through aging, reach a phase in our lives when we, again, become child-like in our needs. We may need assistance with routine matters and appreciate the presence of another human being.

Kiwanis Kares is a program that focuses on those needs of the elderly.

During the nearly three full years that KARES has become a service project of the Tellico Village Kiwanis Club, quite an array of different services to seniors and elderly in Loudon County have been provided. Here is a sampling of these services:

- Spending quality time with Alzheimer patients on a bi-weekly basis going for drive and maybe having a “cheeseburger.”
- Making weekly phone calls to elderly shut-ins and visiting once a month.
- Building/fixing ramps for home-wheelchair purposes.
- Hosting our third annual pancake luncheon at the Loudon County Senior Center serving 60-70 seniors.
- Providing transportation services for those who need to get to doctors appointments.
- Helping elderly couples with small things like changing a ceiling light bulb or helping a widow take down Christmas decorations.
- Arranging for pick-up of Alzheimer patient to get to Wellness Center.
- Providing numerous pieces of maintenance advice on things such as carpet stretching/cleaning, repair of gas-powered tools, replacing a heat pump, repairs to heating ducts, gutter cleaning, chimney cleaning and so on. Most of these request come through our answering service (865-970-1559).
- Staying three nights with a husband with balance problems while the wife could attend a very special family event.

- Visiting assisted-living places like The Neighborhood and River Oaks on a once a month basis, plus providing a special quarterly luncheon program.

What is next? Kiwanis is supporting the STAYinTV Program. The Kiwanis Club has financially supported the early printing cost of the information guide available at the Library. Kiwanis supported the recent Health EXPO as a participant but also being represented on the STAYinTV Board of Directors (Scott Mathot is Vice President). We hope our involvement will help leverage the further awareness of Kiwanis KARES within the village.

As we roll out the various programs, Kiwanis will play an important role in the implementation and execution of the Village Transportation Program and will lead in Caregiver Care and Social Interaction. Eventually, home maintenance and housekeeping will be added as we work in cooperation with other “service providing groups” within Tellico Village.

For more information or for services available, call Kares Chair Scott Mathot, 865-970-1559.
