

TELL-E-GRAM

OCTOBER 8, 2019

IT STILL TAKES A VILLAGE

By: Joe Bogardus, Marketing Team Member

Ironically, seven years ago the Tell-E-Gram report on the first Tellico Village photo shoot was headlined: "It Takes a Village!"

The latest video and photo shoot conducted by the Tellico Village Marketing Team and the community's marketing and digital branding agency, The Tombras Group, proved it still takes a village to pull off such a sizable project. Last Wednesday and Thursday, from sun up until the early evening hours, Village marketing team members and Tombras representatives roamed the community's golf courses, lake shore, various courts and the Yacht Club capturing Villagers doing what they do best—enjoying the Tellico Village lifestyle.

As with past photo shoots, Villagers were drafted to act as "models" while other residents provided critical support.

More than six dozen Villagers were videoed and photographed. It started early Wednesday morning with 22 members of the Tennessee Heat, the community's dragon boat racing team, surging up and down the Tugaloo Basin while the Tombras film crews followed in a chase boat captained by Villager Bill Hartman. Overhead, a photo drone tracked the boat's every movement.

POA MEETINGS:

- October 10, 10 a.m. – RAC, Wellness Center
- October 11, 9 a.m. – FAC, POA Office
- October 14, 3:30 p.m. – GAC, Wellness Center
- October 16, 1:30 p.m. – Board Meeting, Yacht Club
- October 17, 9 a.m. – ACC, POA Office

Special thanks go out to the Tennessee Heat leadership, Sue Clontz and Dee Foster, for recruiting the dragon boaters.

Candid photos were taken at the Farmer's Market, followed by more water activities as Todd and Pam Gittemeier, Jean Clesen and Jonathon Heard paddle boarded in the basin under a bright October sun. Many of the market vendors participated in the video and photo setups. Recreation Director, Simon Bradbury, helped organized access to the equipment and identifying the talented paddle boarders.

Next, it was on to the Coyatee loop with Mike and Tina DeLoncker and Marty and Carol Inkrott in full hiking gear walking up and down the same section of trail as the still camera clicked and video camera rolled. On Wednesday afternoon, a dozen Villagers spent three hours posing in the Blue Heron Restaurant and Lounge enjoying a drink or eating a meal. The support of the AWE Hospitality staff ensured the success of each scene.

Thursday morning, as a beautiful sun rose over Tellico Lake, nine kayakers from the Soggy Bottoms Club pushed off from the Clear Creek boat ramp. Again, the Hartman crew boat followed the kayakers through the early morning sun as the photo drone whirred overhead and the Tombras film crews caught an extraordinary morning in Tellico Village. Soggy Bottoms Club president, Dave Noble, helped organized the kayakers and convinced them to get up before the sun and travel to Clear Creek.

Mid-Thursday morning was spent on the Kahite golf course as the drone flew over Holes 14 and 15 taking in the lake and mountain views. Later, the crews moved to Dan and Pat Dent's Kahite home, where numerous boating scenes were shot using Bill and Gerda Fink's boat. Marty Hulett piloted the film crew boat.

The 95-degree heat proved to be a challenge on Thursday afternoon. Still, Kirk and Barb Eidenmueller, Mark Sodemann and Leslie Fisher played a rousing game of tennis on the Wellness Center courts as the Tombras film crews filmed and shot stills. Janet Reed from the Tellico Lake Tennis Association helped enlist the tennis players.

Tennis was followed by pickleball. Thanks to Rich Karakis, president of the Tellico Village Pickleball Club, 12 of the club's players showed up to play a series of fast paced games under the very warm mid-afternoon sun. Video, still and drone photography was taken.

In consultation with Jim West, golf director, and the other Tellico Village golf professionals, the film crews had designated Holes 4, 14, 15 and 16 on the Toqua course as setup locations. A series of scenes were shot at those holes using Village golfers Karen McLaran, Cindy Schuler, Pete Kilmartin and Chad Jackman.

By late Thursday afternoon, it was a wrap. The Tombras crews had shot thousands of still images and taken hours of video. They remarked how accommodating, pleasant and fun all the Tellico Villagers had been. A quick look at some of the images convinced the TV marketing team that the shoot had been a success.

The images will be used primarily in a revamp of tellicovillage.org, in magazine advertising, brochures and other promotional materials.

All total, including the Village models and the support personnel, close to 100 people had been engaged in the shoot, proving, once again, it really does take a Village.

Please consider offering a foster home to help the pets at Second Chance Pals (SCP), a program of Monroe County Friends of Animals. Foster homes help older and/or sick pets that need more assistance than the typical homeless pet. They often cannot be treated until they have a foster home commitment where they can safely stay until their recovery needs are met. Veterinary care and expenses are provided for their treatments and they are closely monitored. SCP also helps pets who have had to be given up by their owners. Sometimes it's because of a move or because the owner just can't take care of the pet anymore.
